Since its inception, Améo has individualized itself by taking a unique, scientific approach to fully understand essential oils. We've leveraged this cutting-edge science and technology to create our Améo Gene Expression (AGX) database and, in turn, some of our most popular products. Then we took this same robust database and analyzed it in a completely different way; what we discovered is that there are six unique genetic zones. Each single Améo Essential Oil falls into a specific zone, and each zone's oils affect a particular body function. Essential oils that fall into AGX Zone 4 can aid an individual's overall liveliness and vigor.

BENEFITS

Using Améo Gene Expression (AGX) analysis, we have found that the following essential oils fall into AGX Zone 4: Tangerine, Orange, and Clove. These oils have been combined into this exclusive proprietary blend, which delivers vitality when you need it most. Providing invigorating and fresh elements, you'll want this oil diffused, ingested, or applied topically when you need an extra boost of energy to get you through the day.

SUGGESTED USES

- Add a few drops of AGX Energy to Zija SuperMix or your favorite drink to assist in normal energy levels
- Diffuse AGX Energy in an Améo diffuser to provide an uplifting and invigorating scent
- Massage 1-2 drops of AGX Energy—diluted to 50%—onto the back of your neck to promote liveliness
- Add a few drops of AGX Energy to an Améo Veggie Cap and consume to assist in normal energy levels
