Since its inception, Améo has individualized itself by taking a unique, scientific approach to fully understand essential oils. We've leveraged this cutting-edge science and technology to create our Améo Gene Expression (AGX) database and, in turn, some of our most popular products. Then we took this same robust database and analyzed it in a completely different way; what we discovered is that there are six unique genetic zones. Each single Améo Essential Oil falls into a specific zone, and each zone's oils affect a particular body function. Essential oils that fall into AGX Zone 6 can promote normal hair, skin, nails, and other external dermal properties.

BENEFITS

Using Améo Gene Expression (AGX) analysis, we have found that the essential oils within AGX Zone 6—Ylang Ylang Complete, Bergamot, Cypress, Rosemary, and Helichrysum—can help enhance the beauty of skin naturally. AGX Skin contains oils that promote hair growth stimulation, anti-aging, antioxidant support, and other important properties that can help emphasize the full potential of skin, hair, and nails.

SUGGESTED USES

- Place 1-2 drops of AGX Skin in your face lotion or cleanser and apply normally to cleanse and boost the skin's natural repair mechanisms
- Add a few drops of AGX Skin to your daily shampoo, or massage directly into the scalp, to stimulate hair growth naturally
- Add AGX Skin to a carrier oil and rub directly on skin to help minor skin impurities
- Add 2-3 drops of AGX Skin to your favorite lotion or hand cream and apply normally for a dose of beneficial antioxidants
- Rub 3-4 drops of AGX Skin directly onto affected areas of skin to help reduce the appearance of cellulite
- Place 1-2 drops of AGX Skin in your face lotion or cleanser and apply normally to help moisturize overly dry skin
